Foreword

Greetings from the Army Institute of Fashion & Design, (AIFD) Bangalore. We welcome you to the AIFD prospectus 2020. The institute is one of the youngest institutes of Higher Education, having been founded by the Army Welfare Education Society (AWES) in 2004. Since then the institute has gone from strength to strength, emerging as one of the best private institutes for Fashion Design in the country.

Inspite of being only 15 years old and with an alumni strength of less than a 1000, AIFD has managed to leave an indelible mark, both at the National and International level.

Since 2013, four AIFDians have represented India at the World Skills Competition in both Fashion Technology and Visual Merchandising Skills.

The academic approach is surely one of the best in the country, with AIFD students shining during the University Examinations. This year we have bagged 60 % of the available ranks. The First Batch of M.Sc FAD has also bagged the third rank in the University.

Placements have been 100% since more than a decade with AIFD graduates taking home a neat package, comparable to the best in the field.

The infrastructure is the best in the country, with the Life size VM Lab being the only one of its kind in the country. This has been possible because of the constant support from the Management and excellent mentoring from faculty and experts in the field.

You have made the right decision to join this young and happening institute.

Infrastructure at AIFD

The Fashion and Apparel sector in India has been developing rapidly due to the constant support of the Ministry of Textiles. In spite of the slight slowdown of the economy, the growth in the garment sector is encouraging. With every passing year new designers/fashion professionals are arriving on the fashion scene. It may be in the world of Modelling, Designing, Photography or Trend Forecasting. While India has always been the source of rich heritage textiles and craftsmen, Indian designers are finally getting international acclaim. They are breaking new ground and setting fresh goals and using social media with panache. The Apparel industry is the second largest industry in India and provides employment to several million people. With their impressive growth, the industry has also started implementing sustainable growth practises – the burning need of the hour.

This need not just be about being creative –technical skills have to be honed as well. The Contemporary designer needs to be research oriented, with a social conscience. It is also imperative that the designer is finely tuned into the needs of a market whether prêt or haute couture.

AIFD has therefore collaborated with the best in the Industry. The Institute does not just follow the set curriculum (which is revised every three years) but also provides additional information to the student by means of specialized lectures, workshops and interactions with the industry. The student is encouraged to innovate and excel in all aspects. This is especially possible because the Institute has excellent infrastructure, including state of art labs with the latest equipment. The Visual Merchandising Lab and Fashion Photography Labs have the best facilities available for the student to explore opportunities in diverse fields.

Both labs are attached to pattern making labs, stocked with pattern making tables and several types of dress forms, enabling the student to both draft patterns or drape their designs on the dress forms. The embroidery machine allows students to conceptualize their motifs on the computer and realize the patterns with as many as sixteen different colours at the same time.

Patternmaking Lab (Ground Floor)

Quality Control Lab

The QC lab has the facilities to conduct all quality tests for fibre, yarn, fabric, garments and accessories. All high end machines as per industry specifications have been installed in the lab and the students are trained on all machines so that they can take up the responsibilities immediately after they join industry.

This lab has Chemical testing facilities to train the students in identification of materials, yarn dyeing, sample fabric dyeing and printing. The lab consists of the latest 12 kg capacity fabric and garment dyeing machine, Hydro extractor, tumble dryer and a Brushing Robot Machine (Vertical type) for denim trouser finishing as per user requirement.
